

BUFFALO BOXERS BABY BEATEN UP

His Manager Tosses Sponge Into Ring in the Eighth Round.

FULL HOUSE AT RINGSIDE

Champion Outclasses Opponent From Start; Displaying His Real Skill.

By CHARLES F. MATHISON.

MICHIGAN CITY, July 4.—It being necessary in the line of business for Benny Leonard to stop the Rocky Kansas, the lightweight champion did that little thing today. He stopped Kansas thoroughly in the eighth round just as he might have stopped him at Madison Square Garden if he had not a return business engagement with him.

This knockout is expected to react favorably in drawing them out for the Buffalo match with Lew Rosten, the Boy's Thirty Acres in July 27. To-day bout was held in Floyd Fitzsimmons Arena and drew a crowd of 2,000.

Leonard, boxing with all the skill he is known to possess, completely outclassed Rocky Kansas from the first round up to the time that the manager of the Buffalo fighter tossed a sponge into the ring in token of defeat. Leonard not only outboxed Kansas to a great extent but the Buffalo man looked like a novice, but he also outpunched him in each of the eight rounds.

When Leonard landed a staggering right hook to the chin after two minutes of fighting with the eighth round and followed this crashing blow with a fusillade of punches to nose and jaw, it was evident that the Buffalo challenger was at the end of his rope. Bleeding from the mouth, dazed and groggy, he staggered about the ring, while Leonard piled him with punches that would have felled a less rugged man.

Stayed on His Feet. The Buffalo boy was on his feet although very shaky, and could hardly have withstood another blow when the sponge shot through the air and fell on the ring floor.

Kansas seconds jumped into the ring and helped their man to his corner, where a cloth bandage was adjusted to his left arm. Then Dan Rogers, manager of Rocky Kansas, informed those at the ringside that the Buffalo man had been broken in the third round. In view of the fact that Kansas swung viciously with his left right up until the time he was hit, the official prevailed that the Buffalo boy apparently sought in several of the rounds to end the contest by means of a blow below the belt.

Leonard was hit foul a number of times but he made no protest and continued firm in his relentless purpose to reach Kansas in the eighth round. Beginning the third round Leonard boxed brilliantly and the feinting of the champion so confused Kansas that he was unable to break ground and cover up a number of times.

So pronounced was the superiority of Leonard in the boxing, his skill being in the result of the encounter completely eliminates Kansas as a future contender in title bouts with champion Leonard. Incidentally, "Tender," who is in the line of the 30,000,000 test looked like one between a boxer of the first rank, and a rank boxer of the second class.

As the result of the encounter completely eliminates Kansas as a future contender in title bouts with champion Leonard. Incidentally, "Tender," who is in the line of the 30,000,000 test looked like one between a boxer of the first rank, and a rank boxer of the second class.

CAD STALENA EASILY

Seventy-six Vessels Race in Larchmont Y. C.'s 41st Annual Regatta.

By ARTHUR F. ALDRIDGE.

The Larchmont Yacht Club sailed its 41st annual regatta yesterday and 76 yachts took part in 19 races. The yachtsmen met varying conditions of weather. In some classes the wind blew fairly true but in others it was fuky. It came from north-northeast when the course signals were set on the committee boat. Howell C. Perrin, Mayor William Harvey Smith, Jr., Arthur Knapp and Shirley G. Ellis managed the races and sent the yachts across the sound first. This made the second leg of each cruise windward work.

Two fifty-footers Carolina sailed by Vice-Commodore George Seaton and Istalena sailed by Carroll B. Alker raced in the 50-foot class. They first had a run across the Sound to Mott Point, a beat to Greenpoint Point and a broad reach to the finish, 20 miles in all. The start was most interesting.

The two yachts reached toward the dark marking the eastern end of the line with Carolina in the weather position. As they neared the dory it looked as if Carolina might be forced the wrong side of the mark. She was the windward boat and had to keep clear and according to the rules the dory did not become a mark of the course until the starting signal. Commodore Nicholsuffed Carolina to kill her way and when the signal ended wind class she force Istalena to keep off and give Carolina room. Istalena gybed twice on the line and then setting a spinnaker along with the rear division also gave a determined and belated bid for the lead and at the finish was only a head behind Brocade.

Favorite Practically Left. The track was sloppy from the recent rain and all three of the leaders showed that they were exceptionally good in the morning going. James B. Smith's Silk Tassel, one of the favorites for the race, was practically left at the post. She started far behind her field but ran like the wind and was within striking distance of the lead in the eighth round. She was the best as the race was run. Silk Tassel undoubtedly would have given the winner a hard tussle for steller honors if she had received a good start. She was the dam of Sue Smith, the imported Massetto by St. Simon. The dam of Sue Smith was hurt badly in a race at New Orleans and her owner wanted to destroy her but Rufus Brush, son of the President of the Central City Jockey Club begged for her and nursed her back to life. Edward S. Massetto gave the service to his horse. Lester Caplan, S. Brown, of Pittsburgh bought the mare and her filly for $10,000. The filly won this same Astoria Stakes for Captain Brown in 1919.
